

Acknowledgements

We, the editors of JSRI, would like to express our gratitude towards several persons and institutions. We are especially grateful to the members of the Advisory Board, who supervised the texts from this issue and from the previous ones, and who made invaluable suggestions. Special thanks are addressed to Diana Cotrau and Michael Jones, for their efforts to review and correct the English texts. We also acknowledge our gratitude towards all the authors who contributed to this issue.

Partial funding for the 2002 issues was given by the Open Society Institute, New York, through the program Grant for Open Access Journals. The opinions expressed herein are the authors' own and do not necessarily express the view of OSI. We are especially grateful to Melissa Hagemann and Marta Lukacs, and we thank them for their support and encouragement.
